HURLED TO DEATH FROM HIS BIPLANE

Collapsing Air Craft Drops from Sky to Depth of Waters

WM. D. BILLINGSLEY VICTIM

Naval Academy Adds Its First Victim to the Death Roll of the Air—A Miraculous Escape of Companion

Annapolis, Md., June 20.—The Naval Academy added its first victim to the death roll of the air today when Ensign William D. Billingsley was hurled from a disabled biplane, 1,500 feet in the air and fell, straight as a plumpet, into the depths of Chesapeake Bay. Lieutenant John A. Towers, chief of the navy aviators, clung to the hurtling wreck that followed his comrade's course from sky to waters and escaped death, almost miraculously.

Ensign Billingsley, in a biplane that had been converted into a hydro-aeroplane by the addition of pontoons, with Lieutenant Towers as a passenger, left the aviation grounds at the Naval Academy here this morning to fly to Clairborne, some 18 miles across the bay. About ten miles down the bay a gust of wind struck them. Ensign Billingsley was thrown forward across the steering gear, which was disabled. The front planes of the craft fell, and it dropped like a dead bird toward the water. As it fell the pilot was catapaulted out, and turning over and over, his body outsped the disabled machine toward the water. Deep in the bay the body sank, and late tonight all the available boats in the neighborhood were out seeking it.

When the aeroplane started on its dive for the bay, Lieutenant Towers clung desperately to one of the uprights between the planes. Although at times his body swung clear of the rapidly-falling airship he maintained his hold with hand and arm almost wrenched apart. After falling about 900 feet, the biplane turned a complete somersault and for a moment the force of the fall was broken. Striking the bay, it carried Lieutenant Towers beneath the water, but rose to the surface almost immediately.

The aviator, suffering excruciating pain, feared that he would lose consciousness before he could be rescued, and tearing loose the lashings of one of the planes, bound himself fast to a pontoon. Within a few minutes, however, he was taken off by B. L. Bronson and S. Kellar, who had watched the aeroplane's movements from a motor boat kept on the bay for use in just such accidents.

At the Naval Academy Hospital, Lieutenant Towers almost in a state of nervous collapse, his head wagging piteously told the tragic story of his fall.

"Just before the accident," he said, "I looked at the altitude dial and it showed that we were running at a height of about 1,625 feet. Just then a gust of wind seemed to come up from below. It struck the aeroplane underneath the rear planes and the machine lurched violently and took an uncertain dive forward. This threw Billingsley across the steering gear and the lateral rudder planes went out of business.

"With another forward plunge the biplane dropped down at express train speed. It all happened in a minute. Billingsley went out of his seat and clear of the plane.

"When the ship started to fall, I had one hand around the upright, between the planes, and I locked it there. I knew that was my only hope. I was torn loose from the seat but held on to the upright. I swung clear of the planes and the gearing. The strain on my arms and fingers was awful, but I clenched my teeth and held on. I tried to kick the steering gear back into working order but I could not make it go. I looked down and saw Billingsley turning over and over in the air."

The trembling officer halted his story to wipe the sweat from his ashy face, but went on immediately:

"When the aeroplane had dropped about 900 feet the front planes went down and under, until the ship had been turned completely over. When it was half way over it steadied for a minute, and the force of the fall was broken a little, but it gathered momentum again, and when it hit the water there was a terrific crash. But I kept clear of the engine and the planes and managed to come to the surface safely."

At the hospital tonight, Lieutenant Towers was listed as "slightly injured internally" but the surgeons were in doubt as to the exact extent of his injuries. He suffered terribly from shock.

The motor boat which picked up Lieutenant Towers was about four miles from the scene when the wreck occurred, watching the evolutions of a new "flying boat" which Ensign Godfrey Chevalier and Lieutenant Isaac Dortch were trying out.

Captain John H. Gibbons, in charge of the Naval Academy, tonight appointed a naval board of inquiry to investigate the accident. Commander W. W. Phelps, Lieutenant E. J. King and Ensign Victor L. Herbster make up the board. The tug Standish was sent down the bay to bring in the wreck of the aeroplane and the torpedo boat Stringham and all other available craft were sent out to search for the body of Ensign Billingsley.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 20.—Due to an oil fire in the residence of Joseph Rhea, twelve buildings at Butler, Tennessee, were burned today with a loss of $25,000 and small insurance. The business part of the little lumber town was practically wiped out.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN MEXICO

Library of Congress

Gen. Joaquin ... Fifteen Hundred Federal ... Nuevo Leon—Rebel ... Being Anticipated.

Laredo, Texas, June 20.—After fighting their way through the State of Nuevo Leon, Gen. Joaquin Tellez and 1,500 Federal troops arrived at Nuevo Leon, Mexico, today from Monterey to reinforce the garrison there in anticipation of a rebel attack.

En route from Monterey, which is 175 miles south of the border, Gen. Tellez reports having engaged eight Constitutionalist bands in battle, and that at least 200 rebels were killed, and as many more wounded. The Federal casualties, he declared, were less than ten killed.

It is stated that a large body of revolutionists are marching from Matamoras to join the rebel bands about Nuevo Laredo in an attack on that city.

C. H. Rippetteau and Henry Crumpler, the two Americans arrested by Constitutionalists near Colombia yesterday, were taken today to Piedras Negras, the headquarters of Venustiano Carranza, the rebel chieftain, for trial. It is charged that the men are in the employ of the Huerta government.

Douglas, Ariz., June 20.—F. Rivera, revolutionary Governor of Sinaloa, left Agua Prieta today after winning from the Constitutional conference there a promise that the Sonora insurrectos would endeavor to raise an army of 40,000 men for a campaign in Sinaloa. Rivera is on his way to Ortiz, where the Carranzistas are facing a Federal commander, Ojeda, for a decisive battle.

The Sonora State government is reported to have issued an order that the rebels shall collect and keep for war purposes all rents accruing from property within the State. This order also affects property owned by foreigners.

ARBITRATION ACT.

New Department of Labor Offers Opposition to the Measure.

Washington, June 20.—Vigorous opposition from the new Department of Labor to the proposed arbitration and mediation act, prepared by the railroads and railroad brotherhoods for enactment by Congress, was voiced today when the measure was presented to a joint session of the House and Senate Inter-State Commerce committees.

Secretary Wilson criticised the new measure as going beyond the necessities of the hour. He suggested that the only emergency legislation needed was amendment to increase of the size of the board of mediators under the Erdman act. He was not in favor of creating a bureau of mediation.

Seth Low, president of the National Civic Federation, had informed the committee that the railroads and brotherhoods had agreed upon a new bill, which would create a commissioner of mediation and conciliation, appointed by and responsible only to the President. This commissioner with two designated government officials, would constitute a board of mediation and conciliation, to whom matters of dispute could be referred.

Mr. Low insisted that the bill should be passed immediately. He added that he was uncertain as to whether the railroads and the brotherhoods would agree to Secretary Wilson's suggestion.

Consideration of the bill will be continued.

KIDNAPPER CAUGHT.

Police Chase Girl and Her Abductor.

Baltimore, June 19.—Rushing into St. Francis' Home for Orphans here today, a man, who afterward gave his name as Philip Drabik, of Cleveland, O., clutched Sophia Wypych, a 16-year-old immigrant girl, by the hand and fled with her. The pair were captured after an exciting chase and taken to a police station.

Drabik says the girl is his niece. She came to this country three months ago from Austria in company with Drabik and two other men. The men were admitted, but the girl was held by the immigration authorities pending an investigation as to her destination. Not being satisfied that she would be properly cared for, they decided to deport her, but upon the promise of the management of St. Francis' home to provide for her she was turned over to that institution.

A month will be required to complete the vote.

The lockout threw 1,500 men out of work. The Bricklayers took the side of the employers.

PRESIDENT BEGINS HIS CONFERENCE

Talks With Currency Committees on the Monetary Problem

PROPOSED REFORMS IN DETAIL

Senator Nelson Makes Striking Criticism of the Measure—Publication of Bill Met With Approval of President.

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson tonight began his conferences with the rank and file of the currency committees of both houses of Congress. It is understood his purpose is to learn just what changes are likely to be demanded in the new Glass-Owen-McAdoo currency bill, by its critics and opponents in the Senate and House. The publication of the bill by Chairman Glass was with President Wilson's full approval, and to give members the opportunity to know the details of the plan of monetary reforms.

Tonight the President talked at length with members of House committee, next Wednesday he is to confer with members of the Senate committee, and later he will talk over the bill with Republican Senators who have been closely identified with previous efforts at currency reform.

Antagonism to present action on the currency, and criticism of the new bill as agreed upon by the administration leaders, became well defined among Senators today. While there is no organized effort to hold up action, prominent members of the Senate currency committee expressed the belief that the committee as a whole does not favor the immediate passage of the bill, and that President Wilson would be urged not to demand action during the extra session.

Comments on the measure by Senators were guarded, but several expressed the belief that the provision asked by Senator Owen for the retirement of National bank notes, and the refunding of the 2 per cent. government bonds now securing that currency with a 3 per cent. issue, should have been left in the bill.

The most striking criticism of the measure came from Senator Nelson, a Republican member of the Senate Currency committee.

"The bill made public by Mr. Glass seems to me but a temporary makeshift," he said, "and amounts to no more than the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency law. It is simply a provision for emergency currency and is more cumbrous in its character than the Vreeland bill.

"While it professes to decentralize by creating 12 or more reserve associations, it leaves control in the hands of a single board located here at the National capital, composed largely of government officials.

"It fails utterly to amend or improve our present system of National banks and the system of bond secured currency appertaining to them. At best it can only be looked upon as a temporary measure."

Democratic members of the committee expressed a desire to go over the measure in detail with President Wilson and so far no committee meeting has been called. The plan embodied in the measure has never been passed upon, or endorsed by the Senate committee; but it will furnish a basis upon which they will attempt to meet the President in case he is insistent upon legislation at this session.

"I am against the plan of central political control embodied in the bill," said Senator Hitchcock, a Democratic member of the committee, "just as I would be against a central business control of the system. I believe the regional reserve associations should be independent as banks now are; and that the government should limit its control to that of a supervisor over their actions. The bill also, in my opinion, shows a total failure to provide any reserve for the payment of notes the government proposes to issue, and for which it can be required to pay out gold at any time."

REDUCTIONS IN TARIFF BILL

Many Articles Go to Free List—Cotton Goods and Silk Products Chief Features in the Revision.

Washington, June 20.—Important reductions in the Underwood tariff bill rates on iron, steel and other metal products; the addition of cattle, wheat, pig iron, angora wool and many other articles to the free list; and an increase in rates on many classes of cotton goods and some silk products, were the chief features of the revised tariff bill, as it was laid before Senate Democrats today by Chairman Simmons, of the Finance committee.

After weeks of work, in which every item had undergone close scrutiny by sub-committees of the majority membership of the Finance committee, the re-drafted measure was brought into the Democratic caucus today. For two hours the important changes were explained to Democrats and the bill was then made public. Experts of the committee at once began work on a comprehensive summary of the changes.

The President's Desires.

President Wilson's desires as to free sugar in 1916 and free wool at once prevailed in the re-draft of the bill. To the list of "market basket" reductions the Underwood bill contained the Senate committee added many important items. In the general level of its rates the "Simmons bill" represents a heavier cut from existing rates of the Payne-Aldrich law than did the bill as it passed the House.

The Senate caucus adjourned early, and members spent the afternoon working out private analysis of the measure. The caucus will re-convene tomorrow. Senate leaders believe the bill will reach the Senate itself late next week.

SELLING STATE BONDS

Treasurer Lacy Will Close Them Out at Par Till July 1

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—State Treasurer B. R. Lacy, who received bids for only $154,000 of the proposed $1,142,500 bond issue, bearing interest from July 1, has decided to accept all the bids opened June 1, and has received $50,000 additional bids that will be accepted since the public opening.

All other bids at not less than par, received up to July 1, will be accepted. The State has already borrowed more than $800,000 involved in the big bond issue and will make long-term loan arrangements for the amount for which the bonds are not sold by July first.

This course insures all the permanent improvements for State institutions and State colleges, and the University authorized by the recent Legislature.

The special term is for two weeks and is ordered by Governor Craig in response to the request of the Commissioners of New Hanover county, it being stated that the jail is filling up with prisoners, while other defendants are out on bond, and the new law re-arranged, the court cuts out the regular July term for criminal cases and provides for a term beginning September 7.

Dugan's sentence of imprisonment at hard labor for not more than ten nor less than five years, stands, unless there is an appeal to the Court of Errors and Appeals.

Dugan is a son of Judge Daniel A. Dugan, of the Orange district court, and a personal friend of President Wilson, who appointed him to a judgeship about a year ago.

SENATORS CAUCUS ON THE TARIFF BILL

Opposition to the Wool and Sugar Programme Is Expected

VIEWS OF CHAIRMAN SIMMONS

Committee Will Meet Tomorrow to Complete the Work on the Revision Features—Schedules Considered.

Washington, June 20.—Democratic Senators caucused today on the tariff bill as revised by the majority of the Finance committee. Only the income tax feature was held back for revision. The committee expects to meet Sunday to complete that work.

Chairman Simmons indicated the expected opposition in the caucus to the sugar and wool programme, but he believed those schedules would not be changed.

Members of the Finance committee expressed the belief tonight that there would not be much revision in the caucus. The chief interest, of course, centers on wool and sugar, but administration leaders believe that there will be no change in them, and that all but two or perhaps three Senators, will take the pledge binding themselves to support the bill. Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, believes that the caucus will discuss the bill not longer than a week and that after the bill has then been submitted to the full membership of the Finance committee, it will be reported to the Senate.

"This is one of the few times," said Senator Gore tonight, "when a tariff bill has come from the Senate committee with lower rates than the House had prepared. We have not figured just how much the average ad valorem of the bill will be, but we have materially reduced nearly every schedule except cotton."

In a statement of the rate changes prepared tonight for the committee, Chairman Simmons said that "as a result of the changes proposed in the House bill by the Democratic members of the Finance committee, the revenues of the government would be increased approximately five million dollars, hand in hand with a reduction of the taxation following the reductions already made in the House bill."

These increases in revenues would be made up by a tariff on bananas, and restoration of the full internal revenue duty of $1.10 per gallon on brandies used in fortifying wines.

Concerning certain of the changes, the committee statement said:

"The chemical schedule remains substantially as it came from the House with the exception that certain vat colors, which enter largely into the manufacture of cotton, woolen and other textiles which the House put on the dutiable list, have been transferred to the free list. Creosote oil, used principally for the preservation of timber, was taken from the dutiable and placed on the free list. A slight increase in duty was made with reference to the manufacture of celluloid. Cyanide of potash and cyanide of sodium, were alst transferred from the dutiable to the free list.

"With regard to the sugar schedule, no change was made from the provision of the Underwood bill, except to strike out 'sugars tinctured and colored' for fear that ultra marine blue used in bleaching sugar might be regarded as colored matter and thereby refined sugar become subject to a duty of two cents per pound.

"With regard to cigars and other tobacco products from the Philippines, the provision of the Underwood bill permitting cigars with 80 per cent. of tobacco, the product of the Philippine island, and 20 per cent. the product of foreign countries to be admitted into the United States free of duty, was stricken out of the bill. Only cigars and tobacco products, exclusively of Philippine tobaco, to be admitted free of duty into the United States."

Of the addition to the liquor schedule the statement said:

"An additional section is added repealing so much of the act approved October 1, 1890, and acts amendatory thereto, so far as they relate to the use of free of tax of spirits for the fortification of sweet wines, and providing that thereafter all wine spirits, grape brandy and alcohol so used shall be subject to the same tax as in other cases. It is estimated that this tax will result in an increase of revenues of approximately seven millions of dollars per annum."

"The Senate Finance committee followed the House and treated the cotton yarn as the House bill treated cotton cloth," the statement continued. "By adding a duty of 2 1-2 per cent. upon cotton cloth when combed, bleached, dyed, mercerized, or colored. This is the most important change that the Senate committee made in the House cotton schedule. The Senate committee reduced the tariff on cotton lapa, roping, silver, or roving from 10 to 5 per cent. and it substituted the term 'woven figured' for jacquard figured, where used in the bill."

Changes in the administrative section and the income tax will be reported later to the caucus.

FEMALE ROBBERS.

Masked Women Loot Oklahoma Postoffice.

Guthrie, Okla., June 20.—Two women wearing masks entered the postoffice at Georgia, Okla., early today, covered Postmaster Holter with pneumatic guns and looted his tills. They secured $75 in currency, a bag containing 2,000 pennies and two gold watches. The bandits then told the postmaster to sit down. "Now you keep quiet until we beat it from this burg or we will flog you," said one.

The women walked out, mounted horses and rode away. No attempt at pursuit was made.

CHARLOTTE MAN IS KILLED

Superintendent of Pepsi-Cola Plant Meets Instant Death in Auto. Accident—Plunged From Embankment Near the City.

Charlotte, N. C., June 20.—Crawford A. Williams, superintendent of the local plant of the Charlotte Pepsi-Cola Company, met a tragic death near Sloan's Ferry, early this afternoon, while returning to the city in an automobile.

A telephone message was received at 2:30 o'clock at the headquarters of the Pepsi-Cola Company, on E. Trade street, bringing the message that Mr. Williams was dead.

The news of his death was a great shock to his employers, who held the highest confidence in him. He was a faithful employee and a man who understood his work well.

It is said that Mr. Williams was driving the automobile at a very rapid rate (estimated by some of those who saw the machine prior to the accident at about 25 miles an hour).

Just at the bridge on the south side is a fill and a sharp curve leading to the bridge, and it was on the fill that the accident occurred. It is believed by those who reached the scene of the accident that the machine was going at such a rate that Mr. Williams, who was driving the car, was unable to turn sufficiently quick to take the curve. The automobile, therefore, flew off the embankment at a tangent, rolled over several times, and came to a standstill about 20 feet from the river.

A wound on the head of the dead man indicated that the skull was probably crushed at that place, otherwise no serious scratches or marks were visible about the head or arms.

A negro boy, who was with Mr. Williams, escaped. He appears somewhat injured, was extremely frightened, but it is not believed that he is badly hurt.

The body was laid under the shade of a bunch of trees near the scene of Mr. Williams' death, as soon as neighbors arrived and was sent to the city this afternoon.

The trip out from Charlotte was made to repair one of the big trucks of the Pepsi-Cola Company, which had broken down, and Mr. Williams, after attending to this work, was on his way back to the city in one of the machines when he met his sudden death.

W. W. COOPER SUICIDES.

Statesville Man Ends Life in a Sanatarium—Slashed Throat.

Statesville, N. C., June 20.—Mr. W. W. Cooper committed suicide this morning at Dr. Long's sanatorium by slashing his throat with a knife which he had concealed about his person. Death followed an hour after the wound was inflicted, the carotid artery having been severad. Mr. Cooper had been under treatment at the sanatorium for carbuncles the past four weeks and was to have been discharged today. Early this morning a nurse heard him close his window and lock the door. The matter was imediately reported and when the door was forced open Mr. Cooper was found lying on the floor with a horrible gash in his throat. Everything possible was done to save his life, but all in vain. Mr. Cooper's condition had appeared normal, but he suffered much from melancholia. He was under treatment at the State hospital at Morganton two months last Winter. He was a son of the late W. H. Cooper, a prominent citizen of Statesville and about 35 years old. Most of his life since he was grown has been spent in Marion and the remains will be shipped to Marion for burial. Surviving are his wife and sereval brothers and sisters.

His father has reimbursed the government, but young Knowles will be brought back here for trial. He was recently indicted by the Federal grand jury.

According to the postal inspectors, Knowles, while employed in the postoffice here, applied $1,070 of the government money to his own use by redeeming unused stamps and stamped envelopes and then sending only a fraction of the goods to Washington. He is said to have disposed of the rest for cash.

FUNDS ARE NEEDED FOR THE VETERANS

Fifty Thousand are Expected to Attend Celebration at Gettysburg

REUNION OF BLUE AND GRAY

Ten Thousand Old Warriors Will be Without Quarters at the Celebration, Unless Additional Appropriation is Arranged For.

Washington, June 20.—Ten thousand veterans who are planning to take part in the semi-centennial celebration, and Blue and Gray reunion, on Gettysburg battlefield, next month, will find themselves without quarters or subsistence, unless the celebration commission can arrange to provide for them.

The War Department has been notified that 50,000 veterans will attend, but there are funds to care for only 40,000, and Secretary Garrison today notified the commission that he would not accept responsibility for entertaining the additional number.

The secretary sent this telegram to the commission:

"If you have arranged that 10,000 in addition are to attend you must provide the funds to take care of them. There are no funds available to me for this purpose, and I am positively prohibited by express acts of Congress from incurring one dollar's worth of expense over and above the amounts specifically appropriated for this particular purpose. Should I do so, I would not only disobey the express law, but would lay myself open both to civil and criminal liability. If you have committed yourself to the entertainment of more than 40,000, initially expected, you must make it perfectly plain to all those over 40,000 that the responsibility is entirely yours, and that you will provide for them. I have no facilities, nor any prospect of getting any, which will enable me to do more than take care of the 40,000 who up to this time have been the expected number."

Discussing the situation later, Secretary Garrison said:

"Unless the commission is in a position to supply the money needed for the additional and unprovided for expense they will have created an alarming condition of affairs.

"The camp itself was placed by Congress under the care of the Secretary of War. The appropriation from Congress and all previous arrangements have been based upon an estimated attendance of 40,000 veterans. If 50,000 should come, a most serious situation would be encountered."

Six Confederate veterans and three Union veterans will be included in the committee which will represent the House at the Gettysburg celebration. The House today formally accepted an invitation from Pennsylvania to participate, and authorized the speaker to appoint a committee, headed by himself. Later, the committee was announced, as follows:

Representatives Talbott, Maryland; Stedman, North Carolina; Taylor, Alabama; Richardson, Alabama; Jones, Virginia; Estinopal, Louisiana; (Confederate veterans). Representatives Sherwood, Ohio; Goulden, New York; Kirkpatrick, Iowa; (Union veterans). Representatives Graham, Illinois; Sherley, Kentucky; Booher, Missouri; Dixon, Indiana; Mann, Illinois; Payne, New York; Burke, South Dakota; Austin, Tennessee; Mondell, Wyoming; Hulings, Pennsylvania.

In making the appointments Speaker Clark discovered that there was not a single Union veteran on the Republican side of the House. The speaker shook his head sadly, as he commented on this, and recalled that when he came to Washington in 1893, there were a dozen Civil war generals and a score or more colonels, majors and captains in Congress.

READY FOR REGATTA

Seventeen Crews Put the Finishing Touches on Weeks of Training

Poughkeepsie, June 20.—The 17 crews of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Washington and Syracuse put finishing touches on weeks of training for tomorrow's big regatta with light practice this afternoon. All the crews were on the river.

Tonight the hotel lobbies were thronged with supporters of the various crews. Cornell was the favorite as last year. Not many large wagers were reported and wagers that Cornell will take all three races are but few.

Cornell and Columbia are believed to have the smoothest rowing 'varsity crews. The Wisconsin 'varsity crew will be in the race with its new stroke, Bohsteadt who pulled No. 2 oar until a few days ago. Everts takes the No. 2 oar.

Pennsylvania's crews have shown fifty per cent im provement during the last ten days. There will be no practice tomorrow. The four-oared race is called for four o'clock, the freshmen race at 5:25 and the 'varsity race at 6 o'clock. All races will be rowed down stream on the ebb tide.

PIRATES TRAMPLED GIANTS

Took the One-game Series by an Easy Score and Stop Giants' Pennant March—St. Louis Cardinals Defeat Cubs

The Pittsburgh Pirates batted Tesreau, Fromme and Crandall, of Johnny McGraw's pitching staff at opportune moments yesterday and took the one-game series from the Giants seven to three. O'Toole pitched a very good game for the Pirates. His offerings were effusively received in the opening stanzas, but the apparent omnipresence of agile fielders converted wicked-looking clouts into harmless outs. The Giants are now two games behind the Phillies, who rested yesterday.

"Slim Sallee," the great southpaw of the St. Louis Cardinals, was "too much" for the Cubs yesterday, and the Cardinals won the opening game of the series, four to two.

Pirates Stop Giants

Pittsburgh, June 20.—Pittsburgh today hit three New York pitchers at the right time and the loose fielding of the visitors enabled them to win easily 7 to 3. O'Toole pitched splendid ball. Meyers was benched for arguing on balls and strikes. Tesreau suffered from the heat.

HARVARD DEFEATS YALE

The Victors Made a Clean Sweep of Thames

New London, Conn., June 20.—For the sixth consecutive time Harvard's 'varsity eight-oared crew triumphed over the Yale oarsmen in the long four-mile race that closed the annual inter-university regatta here this afternoon. Preceded by the two crimson victories of the forenoon and the two wins on Thursday, it completed a Harvard sweep that has been equaled only once or twice in the long history of Yale-Harvard rowing. Tonight bands of Cambridge students are parading the streets, shouldering new brooms emblematic of the crimson sweep of the Thames river.

The final defeat administered to Yale was so crushing that the English stroke and rowing methods imported from Oxford are being ridiculed.

Sweeping down the river with a steady and consistent stroke, Harvard crossed the finish line 11 lengths ahead of the blue in 21 minutes and 42 seconds. The Eli eight rolled and splashed across in Harvard's wake just 38 seconds later.

Except during the first mile the race was merely a procession, with the Crimson steadily increasing the lead. It was not that the Yale oarsmen broke or failed to get speed out of their English stroke, but Harvard surpassed them in every department of rowing.

Regatta Course, New London, June 20.—Harvard made a clean sweep of the Thames today, her 'varsity eight-oared crew defeating Yale over a four-mile course by eight lengths. Earlier in the day the Harvard 'varsity four won from Yale and later the freshman eight-oared event also was captured by the crew from Cambridge.

Harvard's 'varsity eight covered the course in 21 minutes and 42 seconds, while Yale went over the racing lane in 22 minutes and 20 seconds. Harvard led from start to finish and was never pressed. Fifty thousand people saw the race.

The contest started at 3:46 and both crews held an even stroke for the first half mile. Harvard put her shell a full lenght to the fore within the first two minutes of the contest.

Yale announced her stroke but, fell constantly behind. Her stroke was uneven and there was constant splashing of her blades, and sharp distinction to the clean-cut, machine-like rowing of the Cambridge crew.

After the first mile, where Harvard led by two lengths, the two crews settled down and Yale kept slipping farther and farther behind.

Two miles found Harvard with nearly three lengths' lead, and Harvard shouters on the observation trains were wild with joy. The powerful Harvard stroke had completely killed off Yale at three-mile flag and there was four lenghts of open water between the two shells. Yale tried to rally but failed. The killing pace was too much and her crew fell further and further behind.

Near the finish Yale's crew was seen to be weakening, and Harvard ran away from them, flashing over the finish line an easy eight lengths ahead. The Yale men dropped their blades and some of them wept while cheers for the victors rang in their ears. The Harvard men finished in fine condition and with plenty of reserve power.

PASQUOTANK ROAD RECORD

County is Spending $1,000 a Month for Better Highways

Elizabeth City, June 20.—The treasurer's report shows that Pasquotank county spent last year on the public roads the sum of $11,904, or a thousand dollars per month.

The roads are worked by the convict system and the convicts are supplied from the counties of Northeastern North Carolina to the Pasquotank county chaingang, and this chaingang is maintained by taxation.

Pasquotank county has good roads, as good as can be constructed out of the material at hand, there being little or no clay in the county available for road building. The material out of which the roads are constructed is not very durable and the roads require repairs to keep them in order.

The chaingang system works admirably well here and furnished a means of disposing of the jail birds of this and the other counties of this section. The only objectionable feature is the dumping of criminals in Elizabeth City after they have served their sentences on the roads and this continually dumping is creating an aggregation of criminals here that is showing its effects in an increase of crimes that requires an additional police force to handle. Pasquotank county will likely take steps sooner or later to secure the enactment of a law that will require the criminals to be returned to their own counties after they have served their sentences.

INTERNATIONAL RIFLE SHOOT

Unietd States Wins Over Great Britain by 41 Points

Washington, June 20. — Beating Great Britain by 41 points, the United States has won the International rifle shooting, small bore, match, just completed and re-captured the Dewar cup. The score made public today was:

United States, 24,551; Great Britain, 24,510.

Last year Great Britain took the Dewar cup from the United States by 257 points.

This year's rules called for 50 men on a side using 22-calibre rifles and shooting at 75 feet, the size of the bull's eye being one-half inch in diameter.

Two men of the American team, members of the Butte, Montana Rifle Shooting Club, made the possible score of 500.

VALUATION OF RAILROADS.

Considered at Conference Between Representatives.

Washington, June 20.—Plans for the physical valuation of railroads of the country were considered today at a conference between the Inter-State Commerce Commission's board of engineers, and representatives of the railroads. The object was to consider arrangements for co-operation between the commission and the carriers in preparing maps, profiles and other data.

T. W. Hulme, general secretary of the railroad's valuation committee, headed the railroad delegation of 14 engineers and five attorneys.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Grand's Week-end

A great Saturday this is going to be at the handsome, comfortable Grand. A swell show has been prepared. Of course, the theatre is comfortable, cool and perfectly ventilated, and the tiny price is 5 cents, afternoon and night. The music, both incidental and for overtures, is also a feature. Another one of those "Belinda" series is on today in "Omens and Oracles," the Vitagraph's latest and best. Of course, Miss Norman Talmadge, a big favorite, appears as "Belinda." Selig has a superb dramatic novelty for today in "The Stolen Melody," which tells of how a young musician steals the composition of an older one, and what happens. A Pathe Weekly is also a star today, telling many current events and ending with a big "Mutt and Jeff" sketch.

The Bijou's Offering.

Four films—a quartette of the biggest, brightest and most expensive—will feature today's great week-end show at the popular Bijou. Besides the show there will, of course, be "some solid comfort," as the Bijou is the delightfully cool spot, hygienically ventilated. The price is the only thing small and that is ever 5 cents. Today's list will be led by Kalem's "Fatty's Busy Day", with clever Ruth Roland in the stellar part. Edison has the star dramatic on today in "The Man He Might Have Been," which tells a vivid story of every day life. There is another big dramatic on in Essanay's "A Child's Precaution," which presents the cleverest juvenile artist on the stage in the star part. Another interesting protoplay is "Old Women of the Streets of New York". It is most entertaining film, filled with live informaton.

Fayetteville Observer, 20th: "The evangelistic meeting at First Baptist church is being largely attended, and the interest is increasing. The congregation last night was the largest since the services began, the auditorium and Sunday school room being filled to their capacity. The morning services are also largely attended. Last night 21 persons joined First Baptist church, making a total of 34 received into that church since the meeting began."

A CHECK FOR ATHLETICS

Red Sox Took Opener Six to One. Naps Bowed to White Sox—Lowly Yanks Take Double From Senators.

The Philadelphia Athletics were given another little set-back in their mad race yesterday when the Boston Red Sox knocked Bush out of the box in the sixth and seventh innings and mauled him for ten hits which blossomed forth into a half dozen tallies and won the game 6 to 1. Joe Wood handled the situation for Boston in a manner that left nothing to be desired, allowing the leaders but four scattered hits.

The Clevelanders also bit the dust in the playing of a postponed game with the Chicago White Sox, Cicotte for the Chicagoans being very effective except in one inning. The Chicagos take fourth position this morning, while the Red Sox are boosted up to third place.

The Washington Senators received their worst jolt of the season when Frank Chance and his New York Yankees went through them like water through a sieve, and copped both ends of a double-header. The Senators take an awful drop to fifth position as a result.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Pitcher Bush was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning of today's game, and Boston won from Philadelphia 6 to 1. Joe Wood was effective.

KINSTON NEWS NOTES

Wayne County Poultry Fancier Has Record-breaking Hen

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 20.—John Anderson, a negro, thought he had successfully gotten by the prohibition laws when he arrived here on a train from Norfolk with a quantity of beer and whiskey in excess of the amount allowed under the statutes.

The vigilance of the police has been such that the receiving of whiskey in shipments of more than a gallon here has become decidedly risky, and Anderson, an excursionist to the Virginia city, attempted to smuggle several gallons of liquor and a dozen or so bottles of beer in. When he alighted from a car waiting officers stopped him and searched his baggage, and now he is held for violation of the search and seizure act. He had been suspected of selling whiskey for some time.

J. N. Price, a Wayne county farmer and poultry fancier, has a hen that has set a new record for egg-producing fowls in this section. She is a white Bramah with a pedigree, and lays 14 eggs a week, two for every day including Sunday. Mr. Price is willing to offer proof of the industrious biddy's accomplishment. The best record among his fancy hens previous to this was that of one which layed 11 eggs a week.

Fire yesterday destroyed a ginnery at Falling Creek, this county, owned by M. W. Benton & Son, together with the miller's house at a mill owned by the same people. The origin is unknown. The loss was $800 to $1,000, with $500 insurance.

An unusual case tried in civil court here was that of Moore vs. Ivey, in which Lon Moore sought to recover property sold by him and wife to J. J. Ivey in 1905. The plaintiff contended that he sold the property, a farm, under a parole trust, so that he might reclaim it at any time in the future by refunding the purchase price of $6,000 and paying for the improvements on it. He alleged that he was non compos mentis from alcohol when the transfer was made. The jury decided against him.

"LITTLE" MORRIS RATH.

Chosen by White Sox as Representative in Players' Fraternity.

The many Wilmington friends and admirers of Morris Rath, "Little Rath", as he was familiarly known here when he covered acres of ground around second base on the Wilmington Club of the Eastern Carolina League, will be interested to learn that he has been selected by the Chicago White Sox to represent them officially in the newly formed organization, the Baseball Players' Fraternity.

"Little Rath" gets this honor as a well deserved compliment to his gentlemanly conduct both on and off the field, which made him a favorite with players and fans alike, and shows that he is still well thought of by all his fellow players since he has made good with a vengeance under the "Big Lights."

RALEIGH NEWS OF A DAY

Governor Craig Commutes Sentence of Drakeford to Life Imprisonment—Fight Over Wake's Proposed Court House.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—Governor Craig announces a commutation for Moses Drakeford, Richmond county, by which he gets imprisonment for life in the place of a death sentence imposed by Judge Bragaw.

The reasons for the commutation explain that in imposing the death sentence Judge Bragaw specified that he would only impose the death sentence with the understanding that the Governor would be asked by all the court officials to commute to life imprisonment. Drakeford was convicted of criminal assault, but there were circumstances that constrained the trial judge to hesitate about imposing the death sentence.

J. P. Head, of Wilmington, filed today with the Corporation Commission a petition on the part of shippers of Wilmington and other ponts for a lower freight rate on cross-ties and the commission is taking the matter up with the railroad companies.

The Corporation Commission received today a petition from the mayor and citizens of LaGrange for the railroad companies there to be required to provide a new, modern, brick depot in the place of the one burned in May and that the railroads be not allowed to utilize an old freight depot building in replacing the depot burned. The commission will look into the matter at once.

S. L. Rose, attorney, of Goldsboro; J. R. Brooks, J. P. Cox and C. E. Corr, of Rose, Wayne county, were before the Corporation Commission today to urge an order by the commission for the creation of a depot and agency at Rose, which is the half-way point between Goldsboro and Princeton, the latter stations being 12 miles apart.

Deputy Sheriff S. P. Fleming, of Warren county, was here today to commit to the penitentiary three convicts, Harry Durham and John Mason, to serve 15 years each, and Roger Alston, to serve seven years.

It is definitely settled now that the city will take over the plant of the Wake Water Co., July 2nd, in time for the revenue of that quarter to be payable to the city under the municipal ownership. The city commission already has the money in hand from the bond sale of $350,000 to pay the purchase price to the water company. Furthermore, the State Board of Health has officially approved the plans of the commission for enlarging the plant that utilized the Walnut creek supply of water. And immense impounding dams are to be installed forthwith to increase the daily supply and guard against drought conditions.

In spite of the fact that J. W. Bailey, prominent lawyer and politician, has entered the lists in strenuous opposition to the erection of the proposed $200,000 Wake county court house, and threatens to make the issue one that will compass the defeat of the present board if the whole matter is not referred to the people in a special election, the commissioners declare their purpose to proceed with the sale of the bonds under legislative authority and the most speedy erection of the new court house possible.

Plans tendered by Marye & Simpson have been adopted and the contract for the erection of the building will be awarded just as soon as the specifications can be gotten to the contractors for bids to be submitted.

The building is to be superior to any county court house in the State and so designed and constructed that the court rooms, the corridors, the jury rooms and other public apartments can have hot or cold water and other cleansing fluids applied with hose or otherwise at will, and sanitation and ventilaton are to be as perfect as can be designed.

Mr. Bailey's opposition is a great surprise to the county authorities, with whom he has been in thorough accord until now. He was a member of the committee from the Bar Association that conferred with the commissioners as to the plans for the new court house. He insists now that a remodeling and enlargement of the present court house is all that is needed and points out the fact that the bonds that were issued 30 years ago for the present court house have never been paid.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

State Association to Meet at Morehead City July 30

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 20.—The annual meeting of the North Carolina Good Roads Association will be held at Morehead City July 30 to August 1. It will be preceded by a tour of the Central highway from the Tennessee line to Morehead City.

In the automobile party which will make the tour will be Governor Craig, State Geologist Pratt and President H. B. Varner, of the association, as well as other leading good roads advocates.

The Central highway splits the State from the mountains to the sea. It was provided for by the Legislature of 1911, which authorized the various counties through which it passes to provide for its construction. Most of the counties have done this. A number of the counties already have improved roads. The situation now is very promising for a passable highway right through the State, so that automobilists can make the run from the mountains to the sea coast, or vice versa, with little difficulty.

Madison county, next to Tennessee, has voted $200,000 of bonds for good roads, insuring that portion of the highway. On the east of Madison, Buncombe has an exceptionally fine system of roads. Three townships in McDowell, the next county, have provided $85,000, and Old Fort township has provided $20,000 if the government will give it $10,000 of the $40,000 this State is to get from the National treasury.

Morganton township in Burke county, has voted $50,000, and Hickory and Newton townships have voted $50,000 each and have finished more than 10 miles of fine gravel roadway. This carries the highway to the Catawba river, which is spanned by a modern bridge, giving connection with Iredell roads for which $400,000 has been voted. Rowan county has good roads, and jumping Davidson, where they have none, the Central highway from Greensboro to Raleigh is fine. Wake, Johnston, Wayne, Lenoir, Craven and Carteret present no serious obstacles, and so the Central highway is practically an accomplished fact.

CARLYLE-PROCTOR NUPTIALS.

Wedding at Lumberton of Much Social Interest Wednesday Evening.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 20.—The wedding of Miss Leslie Proctor and Mr. Rudolph Carlyle, at the home of the bride at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, was of much social interest here and elsewhere, both bride and groom being widely known and very popular with a large number of friends.

The home was handsomely decorated in potted plants and blue hydrangeas. Making more impressive the sacred vows soon to be taken was "Barcarole" from "The Tales of Hoffman," played by Mrs. H. M. McAllister immediately before the ceremony.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the officiating minister, Rev. C. H. Durham, took his position at the north end of the parlor, soon followed by the maid of honor, Miss Lillian Proctor, the sister of the bride, in cream embroidered chiffon cloth over satin. Miss Proctor stood to the left as the groom entered with his best man, Mr. Simeon Caldwell.

As the bride descended the stairs, softly the notes of "Barcarole" modulated into the Bridal Chorus of Lohengrin.

The bride, gowned in an exquisite lace robe (her own handiwork) over white satin, carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley, while her veil was artistically draped and held in place with lilies of the valley.

The bride was taken to her place beside the groom by her brother, Mr. Jas. D. Procter, where the impressive ring ceremony was used.

To the strains of Mendelssohn, the bride and groom led the way into the library, where Miss Irene McLeod, in an imposing manner, after serving punch, proposed the toast to the bride and groom: "To God's first thought—Man; to God's second thought—Woman. In the union of the two, we find love—love the one irresistible force that annihilates distance, caste, prejudice, and principles; Love, the pastime of the Occident, the passion of the East; Love that stealeth upon us like a thief in the night, robbing us of rest, but leaving in its place a gift more precious than sweetest sleep; Love is the burden of my toast—here's looking at you."

Thes guests were then invited into the dining room which was decorated with sweet peas and nasturtiums, where the bride's mother, Mrs. E. K. Proctor, with Mrs. Geo. B. McLeod, assisted by Miss Janie Carlyle and Miss Annie Ruth Caldwell, served an ice course, buffet style. Perhaps the most interesting feature in this room was the cutting of the wedding cake where Mr. Knox Proctor was lucky in cutting the dime, the symbol of prosperity. In cutting the ring Mr. Ertle Carlyle was assured of being the next groom, while Miss Irene McLeod, to the surprise of all, cut the thimble.

After many congratulations the happy party were followed to the train by a host of friends. Their popularity was made evident not only by the handsome gifts bestowed upon them, but by the enthusiasm shown in the rice, old shoes and burlesque band which insisted upon playing "Here Comes the Bride", until, as the train rolled out, the bride from the rear platform threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Lillian Proctor, who according to tradition will be the next bride.

SENT HOME TO CHANGE GOWNS

Woman Threatened With Arrest Under Immodest Dress Law

Rochester, Pa., June 20.—"I am very sorry, madam, but I am compelled, under the recent ordinance enacted as a result of recommendations of the morals efficiency committee of Council to place you under arrest unless you woll agree to return to your home and change your mode of dress."

"Sir, what have I done? What is wrong with my costume?"

"You are not properly dressed."

This conversation took place several times yesterday between fair pedestrians and policemen. On several occasions the women grew defiant, but finally were persuaded to obey the law.

The morals efficiency committee was authorized at a meeting of Council Monday night to act in conjunction with Burgess Cargo in determining what constitutes a modestly-dressed woman. Especially were slashed and form-draping skirts, gauze hose, and peek-a-boo waists condemned.

The committee, through the burgess, is expected to issue a proclamation defining the limitations to the length of skirts, thickness of cloth, and proper number to wear at one time. Hosiery, waists, and other female apparel will also be classified under the head of "permissible" or "undesirable."

REV. E. B. CARR'S CHURCHES.

Appointments for Preaching at Several Places Tomorrow.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Atkinson, N. C., June 20.—Announcement is made of the following appointments for services to be held by Rev. E. B. Carr Sunday, the 22nd: Harmony church, at 11 A. M.; Beatties' Ridge, 3 P. M.; Atkinson Baptist church, 8 P. M.

In this group of churches Mr. Carr has seven regular preaching points, and he would like to make it eight points each month. In order to preach at all these places, as pastor of the Black River group of churches, it is necessary for Mr. Carr to preach at two or three points on some Sabbaths.

He takes great pleasure in his life's work of preaching the Gospel and is grateful for the fact that he has fair congregations at every point.

$3.50 Recipe Free, for Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4163 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid receipe in a plain, ordinary envelope, free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

HOMER, GA. Mrs. J. N. Hill, says: "I cheerfully testify to the merits of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, having used it in my family for years and recommended it to my neighbors. I find it always cures our coughs and colds and prevents croup. I have five children and it is all they ever take for colds. We would not be without Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house and can not say too much for it."

Some men do right because they can't afford to get caught. Even a crook hates to have public opinion against him.

Of course, a postoffice fight in South Carolina means a literal fight, fist and skull. Figurative language doesn't go down there.

Governor Blease is to address the Red Men at Dallas next month and it will be just as well for the Dallas chief of police to keep a lookout for Editor Saunders.

A contemporary observes: "If the politicians themselves can be believed, there are still political bosses." There's no such thing as still political bosses. They wouldn't think of keeping still for a moment.

Why go to the mountains seeking cool weather? Thursday the temperature in Wilmington was two degrees cooler than in the mountain regions, reading being 84 there and 82 for the "City by the Sea". Stay at home to keep cool!

Governor Blease has instructed detectives to shadow the South Carolina Press Association next week to see if any of the quillmen buy drinks of bund tigers. Our observation is that the boys take no chances with the uncertain tiger supply.

Neither the government nor the State ever made a public improvement that was not paid for out of the pockets of the people. Some people have an idea that when they get public improvements they get that much graft. Government improvements cost more than private ones, and the people pay for the way it is done at public expense.

If Friend Bryan is standing alongside of and back of Collector Keith, we take it that there is little likelihood of any change in the collectorship before the incumbent's term expires. Certainly, no change should be made unless they can show something more than alleged lese majeste on the part of Mr. Keith to the Senators and Congressmen.

Argentina gives us a good illustration of a country's converting a resource into an asset. Twenty-five years ago the people of Argentina had to buy flour from the United States. Today it sells wheat to the world. It's annual harvest is valued at more than $500,000,000—more than half the value of the South's entire cotton crop.

Says the Houston Chronicle: "The peach growers in Panola county are getting from 80 cents to $1 a bushel for their peaches right at home and letting the other fellow do the shipping and worrying." We should remember that the home demand is great and that by reason of that fact we should have as good a plan to reach our own consumers as we have to cater to those abroad.

Kansas girls are sympathetic, innocent and disingenious. One of them, "just hating" to see mother bending over the tub, is quoted as saying: "Mother is so crippled with rheumatism, and it is so hard to see her doing the week's washing, that I just can't bear it. I always go shopping on washday." Down in South Carolina they would say, "that Kansas gal is unsophisticated."

The inquisitive Greensboro Record propounds this query: "Do people go away in Summer to rest or have a dickens of a time?" We stand on our legal right to refuse to make an answer that possibly may be of an incriminating character. Editor Reece can't answer his own question, for he never goes away from home, else he would come to Wilmington and have a "dickens of a time."

On account of ice, navigation on the Great Lakes did not open officially till April 24th, at which time there were in elevators, on trains, and on steamers at Fort Williamson and Port Arthur, at the head of navigation on Lake Superior, 42,750,000 bushels of grain awaiting transportation. Thus, about $40,000,000 worth of commerce was hung up all Winter because there is no open navigation all year round like we have it in Wilmington.

WILMINGTON'S OPPORTUNITY.

The Star has labored a long time to get Wilmington people to appreciate the potentiality and the possibilities of this port and to impress upon North Carolina the fact that it is to this ocean gateway that they must look for a solution of the freight rate problem. We are glad to see that this important question now seems to tend in the direction of emphasizing the fact that North Carolina already has a capable port and one that should be made greater by the whole State's co-operation. It is North Carolina's port and hope, as The Star has urged so often before.

During the annual convention of the North Carolina Merchants' Association in Wilmington the first part of the week, the incidents served to emphasize the Star's years of effort to magnify the advantages of the Cape Fear ocean gateway to North Carolina. Since the merchants discussed the rate problem and the remedy, and it seems to have been recognized as lying in deep water at Wilmington, wide publicity is being given to it throughout the State. Thus the Charlotte Chronicle refers to the subject:

"Following the address to the North Carolina Merchants' Association and a talk before the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce by Mr. A. J. Maxwell on the establishment of a million dollar steamship line between Wilmington and Baltimore, New York and other Northern points, the business men of Wilmington are declared to have been very favorably impressed with the proposal. Mr. Maxwell is clerk of the North Carolina Corporation Commission and naturally has a broad and accurate knowledge of the freight rate situation in the State. His proposition is the same as was suggested in Charlotte a few days since by Mr. Greenamyer, of Wilmington, except that Mr. Maxwell's plan contemplates the purchase of a number of ships and the ownership of the whole system, while Mr. Greenamyer judging by the amount of capital he said was necessary, contemplated the leasing of suitable ships.

"It is very clear now that the State has the power to fix intra-State freight rates. It could fix rates on merchandise from Wilmington, Southport and Beaufort to practically every point in the State. The cost of hauling by water is vastly cheaper than hauling by rail, and yet apparently because of agreements existing between steamship lines and the railroads North Carolina has been unable to secure the benefits of these water rates. For this reason Wilmington has never become a great port, Southport has remained a village and there is little at Beaufort except a good harbor.

"Wilmington is the only one of the three ports that has sufficient capital to take the lead in the organization and she is now facing the greatest opportunity in her history. The State of North Carolina is ripe just now for just such an organization. The shippers and the people generally realize that they have been played with, that they have been gouged by the railroads for millions and millions of dollars in freight charges above what they should have paid. There are business men of all degrees of wealth throughout the State who would readily subscribe liberally for stock in a steamship line once they were determined that the right men had charge of such an enterprise. No other city in the State can pretend to have anything like the knowledge of such a proposition as the business men of Wilmington. No other city in the State has the money that could so naturally be turned into such an enterprise. But the other cities and towns of the State could not expect Wilmington to do it all. They would merely expect that city to take the initiative, work out the plan and furnish most of the operation officials.

"The Chronicle believes that the organization of a million dollar steamship company is possible and that it is feasible. We believe that the merchants, manufacturers and the consumers of the State would be greatly benefitted by the operation. We believe further that if Wilmington has enough foresight and ambition that she will get busy before many weeks have passed and begin working the proposition out."

Our desire in reproducing the above is to show what is now being thought of the Cape Fear ocean gateway and its potentiality for the relief of the State. The proposal sprung by Mr. Greenamyer and urged by Mr. Maxwell is but one of the features among many that are incidental to the main potentiality—the use of ocean transportation at Wilmington and Southport. The potentialities are here and the possibilities are in securing a greater depth of water on the bar and the making of a port that shall be recognized as a rate basing port.

Outside of this, it now seems clear under recent Supreme Court decisions that North Carolina now has the jurisdiction and the port facilities to secure relief for herself. How it shall be done is a question for the future. It may be one way or the other. It is now an interesting situation that has several features to it, one of which is alluded to by the Charlotte Observer as follows:

"The suggestion advanced by Mr. Maxwell, clerk to the State Corporation Commission, for a steamship line between Wilmington and Northern points will have the good effect of calling attention to the capabilities of the port of Wilmington for the development of steamship business and its advantages as a distributing port. The opportunities offered by this port cannot be much longer overlooked by the steamship men."

Just now we should say that the chief emphasis to be laid on the matter in its present shape is, as The Observer suggests, in demonstrating the advantages and opportunities of Wilmington as a distributing port, not only for North Carolina, but for several States.

NORTH CAROLINA'S POET

The Star was honored yesterday by a visit from Henry Jerome Stockard, the Poet Laureate of North Carolina, far better known abroad than he is in the Land of the Long Leaf Pine. We purposely left off any Mr. or Professor to his name, for the simple reason that we prefer to allude to him as he is known in literature. However, he is Professor Stockard, of Peace Institute, Raleigh, one of the South's leading colleges for women. He formerly was president, but resigned that responsible position while still holding a chair in the faculty.

Professor Stockard merely dropped in as an old friend, as he is here on one of his periodical visits to his son, Mr. S. Albert Stockard, of the Car Accountant's office of the Atlantic Coast Line. Professor Stockard is one of the most companionable of men, but he never talks of himself or his poetry. To meet up with him no one would know from him that he is one of the recognized poets of America, but one would have to know it from reading his productions or from knowledge gained from his works or the magazines. He writes poetry, but always talks about something else, probably because he does not appreciate himself to the extent that he is appreciated by those who know him.

We rather know him as Stockard, the poet, then the urbane and able professor in a fine old Southern female college, as we used to call them. He is a man of rare gifts and culture and has written poetry of a high class, not to be fully recognized on its merits till the author is not in the land of the living. Then literary circles everywhere will do him credit and North Carolina will wake up to the fact that she should have honored him more while he pursues the even tenor of his way as an educator of the lovely young women of the South. He has has never been a prolific writer of verse, although his collation of poems published some years ago makes book that is full of gems. Some of them are rare and the genius in them will show up brighter in the years to come. This is a kind of prediction but it is as much the truth as it will be in the future when literary circles will know and appreciate him far above his reward today. Not that Professor Stockard is not appreciated, for everybody who knows him is fond of the man, but as we have said before, we will later recognize and know the genius that he has kept hid under a modest exterior all these years.

Not the least important of Stockard's productions is his text book on poetry for use in colleges. It is a fine tecnheial work, acquainting us with the various kinds of poetry, illustrating the subject, method and art by quotations from the eminent authors of poetry. If one should write poetry or try to do so, this book will instruct as to metre, style of verse, expressions, etc. It is a technical help to writers and is educational to those whose talents lead them to express themselves in mellifluent lines or rythmic words.

Professor Stockard does not write more because he is too busy making a living. He ought to be endowed so he would not have anything to do but do his best. What he would leave behind would be a monument to him and a star in the literary crown of North Carolina.

EMIGRATION HAS BEEN OUR BANE.

Many a boy and girl has deserted the rural home because they saw no future there for them. Build good roads if you don't want to see your children get restless on account of a lack of progress in the communities where they are expected to live out their days. In South Carolina two years ago the people of whole townships insurged and demanded annexation to good roads counties. If people want to go in flocks from a roadless county, nothing better can be expected of the boy or girl who can't stand for their isolated surroundings in a primitive region.

The fact is, unless we were a fugitive from justice, we would not live in a county that has no roads. It is a waste of life. When we were a school boy we used to recite a high sounding oration entitled "Emigration Has Been Our Bane", its author was an eloquent North Carolinian, who was proclaiming and declaiming the reason why North Carolina was not developing like other States. He attributed it to emigration.

Correct he was. The reason holds good today. He wanted emigration to cease so the resources of North Carolina could be developed by her children who were pulling up pegs and leaving for the West or any old place. They left because there was nothing doing at home. Nobody was starting anything, and the dry rot made the boys and girls tired with a big T. There is nothing like good roads to keep our young people from emigrating. There is too much progress abroad for them to remain in the haunts of moss-backism. This is the plain truth.

A Mr. Lamb is said to be slated for Ambassador to Mexico. Owing to the need of a courageous ambassador in Mexico, how would a North Carolina Lyon do for the job?

New York is now claiming that it has "something new under the sun" in the way of the "hotel hostess." While this may be something new in New York yet the "hotel hostess" has for years been a feature of the Winter and Summer resorts, making pleasant the stay of guests, being in charge of the entertainment features which so largely add to the attractions of these resorts.—Raleigh News and Observer.

More than one North Carolina enterprise has moved to Virginia from this State for no other reason than that discriminatory freight rates in this State made it necessary in order to compete with specially favored Virginia enterprises. We have never kicked on the rates in Virginia; all we want is simple justice and an equal system of freight rates so that we may compete with any handicap.—Charlotte News.

Senator Simmons has held up J. R. Swann as postmaster at Marshall. Swann was endorsed by Representative Webb. Senator Simmons, asked yesterday what he was going to do about the matter, replied that he was too busy with the tariff bill to talk. However, he seems to have talked enough to put a halt to further proceedings. What has Swann been doing to Senator Simmons? Did he talk about him in the campaign?—Greensboro Record.

The Rutherfordton Sun and the Laurinburg Exchange are arguing for a new train on the Seaboard to carry the traffic on to Wilmington from Hamlet in connection with the new train between Charlotte and Raleigh. Such an arrangement would prove of much benefit to the traveling public and would add greatly to the facilities between Charlotte and Wilmington. It looks like another opportunity for the Seaboard to strengthen itself in public favor and at the same time create a new money-making train.—Charlotte Observer.

THE GETTYSBURG CELEBRATION

To the Editor of The Star:

From the text of a recent letter received, we glean certain comments upon the coming Gettysburg celebration, as follows:

"A superb pamphlet upon Gettysburg, issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., limited, gives very interest data upon this event.

"The Quaker City buzzes over the shadow before the event. The 30,000 old Union soldiers and over 20,000 Confederates will be cared for all right—by the State of Pennsylvania; but what is to become of the large masses of the people the Lord only can tell.

"At Grand Army headquarters the report of over 10,000 automobiles whose drivers calculate upon running to nearby towns at night, to convey their guests to Harrisburg, Carlisle, York, Chambersburg, Hagerstown, etc., find every possible hotel accommodation pre-empted.

"Where will all the people get something to eat?

"Application has been made to the Reading Railroad Co., for over 100 Pullman cars by people calculating to live in them, but every one has been turned down, for there is not siding accommodations for the host of passenger cars coming and going.

"Only two small roads, partly single-tracked, lead to Gettysburg. Surely, there will be a mess."

This feature as thus outlined is worth knowing to those who contemplate visiting the scene. R. A. W.

FINE OF $500 FOR NEELY

Appeals to Superior Court—Able Arguments by Counsel on Both Sides—Several Other Cases Were Continued

Recorder John J. Furlong yesterday fined J. B. Neely $500 and the costs in the case sent up from Justice Harriss' court for alleged violation of the prohibition law in selling "No Tax." An appeal was taken to Superior Court and his bond was fixed at $500. The case against Neely that was worked up by the police department was nol prossed with leave.

The case against S. D. Bryant, charged with selling intoxicating liquors—"No Tax"—was continued by consent of counsel until July 1. The cases against Henry Woebse, charged with selling intoxicants, and against Lonnie Gurganus for alleged interference with officers, were continued until Thursday, June 26th.

There were only two witnesses placed on the stand yesterday, these being Mr. P. V. D. Westalaker, chemist for the Robert Portner Brewing Co., of Alexandria, Va., and Mr. M. P. Greene, their selling agent. The other witnesses were examined Wednesday, a synopsis of their testimony having been given in yesterday's Star.

Mr. Green testified that he had talked with Neely, and had assured him that he would see that he received no shipments of drinks that did not comply with the North Carolina law. He had done this after conferring with the officials of the company at Alexandria, who had informed him that they could manufacture such an article. "No Tax," it was stated, was manufactured expressly for the Wilmington trade.

Mr. Westalaker testified that he had had 37 years' experience in dealing with matters relating to the manufacture of beer and other drinks of like nature. He explained the process of manufacture of "No Tax," and stated that he had made five different analyses at different stages in its manufacture, and that at no time did it contain alcohol in excess of 1-10 of one per cent. He also testified that it was twice carbonated in order to make sure that it would come under the head of carbonated drinks. The law allows as much as one-tenth of one per cent alcohol in carbonated drinks, but no more.

The first speech for the defendant was made by Woodus Kellum, Esq., who emphasized the fact that Neely had had analyses made which showed the "No Tax" to be within the law, and that he had consulted lawyers to find out the exact nature of the law, and that he had acted in good faith all along in his efforts to comply with the law. He attacked the testimony of Mr. Catlett, who had analysed samples found to contain alcohol, on the ground that there were vibrations in the building in which he worked, caused by passing trains and moving machinery, which were sufficient to cause errors in such delicate tests. He stated that the reason Neely had continued to sell was because he believed he was within the law.

He was followed by A. G. Ricaud, Esq., who contended that Neely was guilty of no wrong intent, and that the evidence in the case showed that there had been no actual violation of the law. There was at least a grave doubt as to his guilt, and he contended that his client should have the benefit of the doubt. He reviewed the testimony of Mr. Green and Mr. Westalaker in detail to show that the lots shipped had no alcohol above the limit allowed by law.

County Solicitor Peschau made the only argument for the State. He laid down two propositions, derived from the statute covering the sale of beverages. The first was that it forbids the sale of malt liquors containing any alcohol whatever, and the second was that the sale of carbonated drinks containing above one-tenth of one per cent is contrary to the statute. In regard to the conflicting testimony as to the analyses, he stated, that if some samples showed alcohol and others did not that this did not prove Neely's innocence as it was admitted that he had sold all of them.

He stated that the "No Tax" contains maltose, which when exposed to the atmosphere would be changed into alcohol, and that this would account for the different amounts of alcohol found in different specimens. The fact that Neely acted under the advice of attorneys did not exonerate him, or the fact that he may have acted in good faith in selling the beverage after having been notified by the authorities to stop its sale.

The cases against Norman Hall and James Garfield, two colored boys, found bathing in the Cape Fear, were nol prossed with leave on account of the tender age of the parties. The case against H. Stein, charged with assaulting his wife, was continued until tomorrow, on account of the absence of material witnesses.

BANISH COWS FROM ISLAND

Will Not be Allowed on Beach After July 1—Ordinance Requiring Employment of Two More Life Guards

The Board of Aldermen of Wrightsville Beach has adopted an ordinance banishing all cows from the island on and after July 1st and another requiring the Carolina Yacht Club and the Hanover Seaside Club each to employ a payable life guard and also provide a serviceable surf boat to be on duty at all times when bathers are allowed the privilege of surf bathing from these clubs.

This will give six life guards on duty on the island which is considered quite ample protection to the bathers in the way of life guards. The use of surf boats is also required at all places where bath suits are rented. The following is the ordinance with reference to the life guards for the clubs mentioned:

"In order to provide additional safeguards, be it

"Resolved, That the ordinance of May 23, 1911, be amended so as to include the Carolina Yacht Club, and the Hanover Seaside Club, and that these clubs, in addition to the hotels, are hereby required to provide and maintain an active, capable man to be used as a life guard. Also a serviceable surf boat. This man and boat to be on duty at all times at which bathers are allowed the privilege of surf bathing from these hotels, or clubs.

"This protection to bathers to be provided from June 1st to September 1st of each year, and man selected for life guard and the kind of boat used to be subject to the approval of the Mayor.

"This ordinance to be in full force and effect on and after June 25. Failure to comply with same, subject to a fine of $25 for each and every day after the date."

The following is the ordinance banishing cows from the resort:

"On and after July 1, 1913, it will be unlawful to keep cows within the corporate limits of the Town of Wrightsville Beach, during the months of June, July and August, of each year.

"Failure to comply with this ordinance is subject to a fine of Ten Dollars for each and every day on and after July 1st, 1913."

It is stated that only four or five cows are kept on the island. The fact that any have been kept there will be news to a great many people. The banishing of the cows is said to have been necessary on account of increasing the number of flies.

The meeting at which the ordinances given above were adopted was held Thursday night and was presided over by Mayor Thos. H. Wright and in attendance were Messrs. P. W. Albright and M. J. Corbett, members of the board, and Mr. R. H. Northrop, city clerk and treasurer.

ARAB PATROL COMING

Shriners From Charlotte Will be Prepared for "Round-up" Here

Yesterday afternoon's Charlotte Chronicle in speaking of the coming of the Mystic Shriners to Wrightsville Beach next week, says:

"Shriners to the number of 100 from Charlotte and nearby points will take their departure from this city next Thursday, June 26th, in a special train over the Seaboard for Wrightsville Beach, where the mid-Summer assemblage of Oasis Temple will be held, beginning Thursday evening and continuing two days.

"The Shriners will leave Charlotte at 7 A. M. Thursday, and the Seaboard has made provision to serve breakfast and lunch aboard the special train for the benefit of the Shriners enroute to the oasis of Wrightsville.

"The local Shriners have a new feature this year, a Shriners' band of about 20 members under the able direction of Mr. R. L. Keesler, which will make the trip, and will form one of the central attractions of the journey.

"The Arab Patrol will also go to Wilmington for the round-up of fresh meat, there being an unusually large number of candidates, over 100, waiting to be accepted into the mysteries of the shrine. These 100 will receive the fullest attention of the teams that will be in charge of the initiative programme, and with the Atlantic ocean so near at hand it is anticipated that some aquarian stunts will form a not uninteresting portion of the series of trials which will consume the time and consideration of the 100 pilgrims of the desert who will on Friday and Saturday knock at the shrine for humble admission.

"The headquarters of the temple will be at the Oceanic Hotel, which is now under the management of Mr. Charles E. Hooper, formerly of this city, and the members are anticipating one of the most pleasant outings of their lives at Wrightsville Beach next week."

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. John P. Green Becomes Exhausted in Surf—Rescued.

While in the surf at Wrightsville Beach, Mr. John P. Green, of Wilmington, was caught by the eddying currents near the old wreck, opposite the Hicks cottage, and barely escaped drowning, late yesterday afternoon. Fortunately Mr. "Bill" Watson, the life saver at the Oceanic Hotel, was near enough to go to his rescue, before he was completely exhausted. About the same time Messrs. Tom Strange and F. G. Davis put out in a boat from the hotel. Mr. Green was brought to the beach and soon recovered. It is not thought that he will suffer any evil effects as a result of his experience. Mr. Watson was warmly praised by those who witnessed his rescue of Mr. Green.

Mr. Green, who is general foreman for Rhodes & Underwood, well known contractors of this city, is occupying cottage No. 104 for the Summer and went from his cottage for a dip in the surf. While he is an able-bodied man, it seems that he is not an expert swimmer, and not knowing about the swirling currents caused by the hulk was soon at the mercy of the waves.

There have been a number of other persons caught in the same predicament as Mr. Green by not knowing about the eddying currents with almost fatal consequences to themselves. Several citizens of the island last night as a result of Mr. Green's narrow escape took up the matter with the town authorities with a view of having the place marked plainly with a large flag or some other insignia so that people may be able to keep away from the spot, especially those who are not expert swimmers, and are not familiar with the twisting ocean waves.

DEATH OF CAPT. T. O. BUNTING

Passed Away Yesterday at Noon After Week's Illness—Had Been in Failing Health for Nearly Two Years—Funeral.

Capt. Thomas Owen Bunting, one of Wilmington's best known and most highly esteemed citizens, died yesterday at noon after a week of acute illness. He had been in failing health for about two years and for the past week his condition had been regarded as alarming, so the announcement of his death was not altogether unexpected though none the less a great shock to his loved ones and friends.

It has only been a little over a week since he was at his post of duty at the Court House as tax assessor for Wilmington township, which position he has filled every year for a number of years. Although able to be up and about his duties until a week ago, as stated, Capt. Bunting has been in very feeble health all the Spring and Summer and friends who saw him every day realized that the end was rapidly drawing near.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from St. James' Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Milton, the rector.

Capt. Bunting was born in Sampson county, near Clinton, July 8th, 1845, and was a son of Thomas Owen and Elizabeth Holmes Bunting. He received his early schooling in the celebrated school of Dr. Wilson.

He was twice married. His first wife, who was Miss Louise Smith, died in 1885. There were four children from this union, all of whom survive him. They are Messrs. Thomas, William S., and Richard C. Bunting, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Toot, all of this city. His second wife, who also survives, was Miss Virginia Smith, before her marriage. Surviving also is one sister, Mrs. John Hill, of Goldsboro. They will have the sympathy of hundreds of friends in their bereavement.

Although only 16 years old when the Civil War began he enlisted in the Sampson Rangers, which was a part of the 20th N. C. Regiment. Later he returned home and entered the University of North Carolina, where he remained only one term. He answered the call to arms the second time, enlisting as a private in Co. C, 63rd N. C. Regiment, 5th Cavalry. On account of his bravery and faithful performance of duty he was soon promoted to the rank of sergeant. He was in many battles during the war, among these being at Goldsboro and White Hall in this State, and in the battles of Hagerstown, Gettysburg, Spottsylvania and other battles of the army of Northern Virginia.

Near the end of the war he was captured and was held a prisoner for several months at Point Lookout. In one of the battles in which he participated he was shot in the ankle which kept him confined for a period of three months. His record in the war was a most creditable one, and thus early in life was brought out those characteristics of daring and honorable conduct that make his life one of such great usefulness.

After the war he farmed a year and came to Wilmington in 1866, where he lived the remainder of his life, and most of it was spent in public service. More than 40 years ago he served as assistant tax collector, and for many years he was Deputy Register of Deeds. For 12 years he was Deputy United States Marshal of the Eastern North Carolina district. Later he was tax assessor for Wilmington township. He was probably the best posted man on taxation in the county.

Capt. Bunting was a loyal churchman, and for many years had been vestryman of St. James' Episcopal church. He was also a member of the Royal Arcanum, the Cape Fear Lodge of Odd Fellows, and Cape Fear Camp, United Confederate Veterans. This afternoon at 5 o'clock his veteran comrades will meet at the church to accompany his body to the place of burial at Oakdale cemetery.

The honorary pall-bearers will be the vestrymen of St. James' Episcopal church and are as follows: Messrs. J. V. Grainger, S. M. Boatwright, William Calder, George Rountree, J. A. Taylor, J. I. Metts, A. Alligood, J. W. Murchison, W. D. MacMillan, Jr., Clayton Giles, George B. Elliott. The active pall-bearers will be Messrs. Thomas C. Bunting, William S. Bunting, Richard C. Bunting, Walter Toot, J. H. Hill, of Goldsboro, W. H. Brown.

MACCABEES ELECT OFFICERS.

Rousing Meeting Last Night of Cape Fear Tent—Candidates.

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of Cape Fear Tent, Knights of the Maccabees of the World, last night, officers for the ensuing term were elected as follows: Past Commander, W. C. Benson; Commander, A. T. Harris, Lieutenant Commander, L. A. Bangle; Record Keeper, M. H. Brimmer; Chaplain, W. E. Beaton; Physiians, Drs. Moore and Croom; Sergeant, H. T. Wilson; Master-at-Arms, E. B. Johnson; First Master of Guard, S. G. Nelms; Second Master of Guard, G. R. Bishop; Sentinel, Benj. Cox; Picket, A. S. Flowers.

Two candidates were initiated last night and 12 applications for membership were received. Mr. Geo. C. Morton, State Commander, and Capt. F. R. Conner, of Washington, D. C., were present and took part in the initiatory ceremonies and also addressed the meeting. The Tent voted to remain here for 30 days to work in the interest of the order. He is a prominent member of the order and the members of the Tent consider themselves very fortunate in securing his services to assist in the campaign for new members. Capt. Conner may later take the position of Deputy Commander for Eastern Carolina and establish headquarters in Wilmington.

The Tent will operate an excursion to Carolina Beach on Tuesday, June 24th. The boat will make three trips to the pier, morning, afternoon and night. This will be the Tent's first excursion.

OFFICER GUARDS RESIDENCE

Mr. J. O. Brock Requests Police Protection Last Night

At the request of Mr. J. O. Brock, Patrolman W. R. Appleberry was detailed last night to guard the Brock residence, No. 522 South Fifth street, and to patrol that section of the city, Mr. Brock stating that he had heard that some threats had been made against him and wished the police take some steps in view of same.

It was understood from street rumors during the afternoon and night that there was imminent some difficulty between Mr. Brock and Mr. Henry Hewlett which, it is alleged, involved the domestic relations of the latter, though the police knew nothing of the affair, officially, other than that the officer had been requested and furnished.

SENT OVER TO THE RECORDER

Probable Cause Found in Case Against L. A. Justice, Special Officer—Brought Whiskey From Norfolk for Friends.

That it is a dangerous thing for one to accommodate his friends when an infraction of the prohibition law is involved and that the little act of kindness is likely to bob up at any time within two years to cause him annoyance, if nothing more, was plainly shown in the trial of the case against L. A. Justice, a special officer of the city police department, before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon. He was charged with violating the prohibition law and as probable cause was found the case will come up in the Recorder's court for final consideration.

Justice has been engaged by the city for the past week or two to aid in running down violators of the prohibition law. As the result of his efforts several arrests were made a few days ago. Among the number was Ben Cottle, a druggist, at Eighth and Castle streets. In the trial of Cottle before the Recorder Thursday, Justice testified to having purchased from the defendant a bottle of alleged Coca Cola, which, it was further brought out in the evidence, was analyzed and found to contain 4.85 per cent. alcohol. Cottle, as stated in yesterday's Star, was found guilty and a fine of $100 and costs was entered against him. He took an appeal.

The next day after Cottle was arrested by the police on a warrant alleging sale of intoxicants, Cottle went before Magistrate Harriss and swore out a warrant against Justice charging violation of the prohibition law. Particulars of the offense with which Justice was charged were not made known until they came out at the hearing before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon.

There were three witnesses against Justice. The testimony was to the effect that on the afternoon of December 6th, 1912, Justice came into the car inspector's office of the A. C. L., where there were a dozen or more men, and stated that he was going to Norfolk and that if any of them wanted him to bring them some whiskey that he would do so. The three witnesses testified that they gave him money, one giving him $1.50 and two others gave him $2 each. On December 8th, he returned, bringing with him the whiskey which he delivered to them.

One of the witnesses, named Guttenberg, stated that on at least two other occasions within the last two years he had had other men to do the same thing. He at first refused to tell their names, but when he was informed that he would be held in contempt of court if he did not, he gave the desired information.

One witness testified that Justice had boasted to him that he made enough money out of the whiskey he had bought and delivered to pay the expenses of his trip.

Justice did not go on the stand and his attorney, Graham Kenan, Esq., stated that he would admit the facts as presented, and contended that his client, while guilty of a technical violation of the law, was not guilty of any moral turpitude. Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., appeared for the prosecution.

In the light of the evidence there was nothing for the magistrate to do but send the case up to the Recorder, where it will likely be heard today. Justice was recognized for his appearance before the Recorder today with Chief of Police Williams as surety.

The case has attracted considerable attention and the hearing yesterday was attended by as many people as could find standing room in the magistrate's office. The outcome of the case will be awaited with more than usual interest on account of the circumstances.

It is stated that Justice is not the person by that name who was formerly a member of the fire department. Until a short time ago he was employed by the Atlantic Coast Line and held a position with the railroad at the time he is alleged to have bought the whiskey in Norfolk for his friends.

POSTAL CLERK SHOT.

Will Dockery, Colored, Said to Have Fatally Wounded Another.

Persons arriving on the late train on the Seaboard Air Line last night told of the shooting, perhaps fatally, of Frank Perry, a colored hackman of Monroe, by Will Dockery, also colored, a railway mail clerk between Monroe and Rutherfordton, at Monroe yesterday morning. Dockery was placed in jail, it is reported, without bond to await the result of Perry's injuries.

Dockery formerly ran between Wilmington and Charlotte, but was lately transferred to Monroe and leaving there yesterday morning on his regular run, he became ill on the train and claimed that he had been doped. The train stopped at Charlotte and Dockery returned on the train reaching Wilmington yesterday noon. When the train reached the station at Monroe, it is stated Dockery opened fire on Perry, wounding him perhaps fatally. Perry returned the fire and Dockery also was wounded, but not seriously. The cause of the trouble could not be ascertained.

NEGRO SHOOTS NEGRO

George Ray Seriously Wounded Last Night by Jim Scarboro

George Ray, colored, was shot and seriously wounded last night about 11:30 by James Scarboro, also colored, on Ninth street, between Castle and Queen.

The bullet entered near the heart and Ray was taken to the James Walker Memorial Hospital as soon as possible, where an operation was at once performed. Inquiry after 1 o'clock this morning resulted in the statement that he was very seriously wounded and that his recovery was a matter of doubt, but a definite statement could not be had at that time.

Ray eluded the officers and the force all over town was looking for him. The trouble is said to have been caused by a woman.

CLEVER RUSE

Suffragette Escapes by Donning Male Attire

London, June 20.—Miss Lillian Lenton, the militant suffragette who was convicted of having started the fire in the Kew tea garden pavilion and who has given the police much trouble, has escaped in man's clothing from the house where she was living in Leeds, pending the expiration of her license.

Miss Lenton was released from jail in March because of illness, caused by a hunger strike. She broke her license and was not heard of again until June 10th, when she was arrested at Doncaster, under dramatic circumstances. A woman named Winship was charged with breaking into Westfield House at Doncaster, with the intent to burn it. A witness for the defense, who called herself May Dennis, confessed that she and not the Winship woman, was guilty. She proved to be Miss Lenton, for whom the police had been searching. The Winship woman was released and Miss Lenton was sent back to jail.

Miss Lenton immediately started another hunger strike and got out on license a few days ago. She was placed in a house at Leeds until she had sufficiently recovered to be returned to jail and police guarded the house. She again eluded the police and got away yesterday.

WILL START TODAY

Eight Horses Will Enter Race at Belmont Park

New York, June 20.—Eight horses are carded to start tomorrow at Belmont Park in the first running of the historic Brooklyn Handicap, since 1910 when the anti-betting laws caused a temporary suspension of racing in New York State. Time was when the best horses in the three-year-old and upward class always faced the barrier to strive for the honor of winning the mile and a quarter even and the big purse that came with victory.

In the race of tomorrow, are entered sons of notable sires. Heading the list is Harry Payne Whitney's Whisk Broom II, a son of Broomstick, winner recently of the Metropolitan Handicap. Whisk Broom II is asked to pick up 130 pounds the top weight of the race. C. M. Miller, which ran second to Whisk Broom in the Metropolitan, will carry 103 pounds.

Washington, June 19.—Maurice Francis Egan, minister to Denmark, is slated for an appointment by President Wilson as ambassador to one of the European courts, very probably Austria.

COTTON SHOWS FIRMNESS

Prices Advance to Nearly the Best Level of the Week—The Opening Firm at An Advance

New York, June 20.—The cotton market showed renewed firmness today with prices advancing to nearly the best level of the week on active covering and bull support. The close was firm at the best under realizing, but steady, and from 5 to 16 points net higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 to 3 points in sympathy with steady Liverpool cables, but foreign houses were again sellers here, while the trade took a generally favorable view of weather conditions in the South, and there was also scattering liquidation or local bear pressure. After selling off to a net loss of 2 or 3 points, however, the market rallied on a renewal of bull support and covering.

July showed a tendency to lead the advance, as shorts in that position seemed to be nervous over the continued reduction in the local stock and the strength of the near month in New Orleans, while reports that the boll weevil were showing up numerously in Arkansas helped the upward movement in the new crop positions. Realizing caused a moderate reaction after the market had shown a net gain of about 12 to 15 points, and the detailed weather reports were published showing lower temperatures in the Eastern belt, but spinners' takings for the week as reported by the New York Cotton Exchange were heavy enough to suggest a further strengthening of the old crop situation, and prices rallied again, selling about 17 to 20 points net higher in the late trading.

This advance carried July contracts up to 12.24 or within one point of the high level reached earlier in the month, when there had been some selling supposed to be against cotton to be shipped here for contract delivery. There was a little selling said to be for the same account above 11.20 this afternoon, and the market eased off some 5 to 6 points from the best in the late trading under realizings. Wall Street and uptown interests were credited with buying actively on the advance, and part of the demand was supposed to come from old shorts.

Spot cotton closed steady. Middling uplands, 12.50; do. gulf, 12.75. Sales, 100 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

Market Has Been Active and Firm During the Past Week.

New York, June 20.—The cotton market has been active and firm during the past week, with prices making new high ground on covering of shorts and bull support. Realizing by old longs, particularly by houses with European connections, which were reported heavy buyers here around the 11-cent level for new crop positions, has held the advance in check, but the action of the market has suggested the development of a considerable bullish sentiment in local circles, and prices at the close of the week were within a few points of the best.

Judging from the talk around the ring, the upward movement has not reflected any particular change in sentiment as to prevailing new crop conditions, but a somewhat more favorable view of the financial outlook combined with the apparent strength of the old crop remnant, and the continued active mill consumption contrasted with a light into-sight movement, has undoubtedly made a considerable impression on the market.

A private crop report issued early in the week showed an apparent deterioration of a little less than 1 per cent in the condition of the crop for the first two weeks of June, but this was the result of comparing with a relatively high figure published toward the end of May, and the trade was more inclined to contrast the mid-June condition of 83.6 with a report of 89.2 at this date last year, or with the official June bureau of 79.1 Some nervousness has been expressed as to the effect of high temperatures in the Eastern belt, and there have been reports of boll weevil in Arkansas, but otherwise private crop reports have been generally favorable, and weather conditions have met with no general criticism.

The census figures on supply and distribution helped to strengthen the old crop situation, and the continued reduction in the local stock has led to many bullish predictions that cotton must be attracted here in considerable volume before the supply will be sufficient to furnish the near months adequate protection.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET

New Orleans, June 20.—The price of cotton was higher today on determined bull support, following much boll weevil talk, and gossip concerning the July position. One report was that interior cotton merchants were in the local market for the purpose of taking up cotton on July and shipping it out. This made shorts nervous as the local stock, less the amount on shipboard, is under 40,000 bales. Both Louisiana and Mississippi sent in reports that farmers were finding boll weevils numerous. Bears pointed out that it was altogether too early in the season for much damage to be done by this insect.

Reports of Rain on Spring Crops at Seasonable Time Has Good Effect on Market Conditions and Prices.

Chicago, June 20.—Belief that rains had fallen at the right time for the greater part of the Spring crop brought about an easy feeling today in the wheat pit.

Closing prices varied from 3-8 cents decline to 1-8 cent gain. Corn showed a fall of 5-8 to 1c, and oats a setback of 3-8 to 5-9c. There was an irregular finish in provisions, ranging from 7 1-2 off to an advance of a shade.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 20.—The cotton goods markets were quiet and steady today. Cotton yarns in coarse numbers were higher. Domestic wools were quiet and carpet wools firmer. Brocaded silks sold liberally for Fall.

Business Light, But Pressure Not Severe—Decline Made in Slow and Easy Stages—Market Tendency.

New York, June 20.—By slow and easy stages the stock market again drifted downward today. The force of the recent upturn seemed entirely to have spent itself, and although the volume of business was light, and there was no appearance of severe pressure at any time, the small offerings were sufficient to make further inroads on the gains which followed last week's severe break.

The declining tendency of the market bore no relation to the developments of the day, which were barern of news of real weight in the determination of speculative influences.

The rise in prices has made stocks less attractive to prospective investors, especially in view of the unusually large returns now being offered on new bonds and short term notes. At the same time the market is no longer receiving the benefit of supporting orders from large financial interests such as it was deemed necessary to extend during the troubled days of last week. The market's absoption power in consequence is lessened.

Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Smelting and Interborough pfd., were the weak spots in the list.

Further London selling here tended to depress the market in the fore part of the day. Sales for London account were about 20,000 shares.

While much study was given to the proposals for currency reform as tentatively incorporated in the bill given out at Washington, bankers were inclined to reserve their opinion.

It was realized that many changes might be made, and the changes for enactment of the law at the present session of Congress were uncertain. Publication of the bill apparently had no influence on the stock market.

The bond market was heavy. Total sales, par value, $1,407,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales were 199,800 shares.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Distribution Shows Increased Activity. Favorable Weather.

New York, June 20.—Dun's review will say tomorrow:

"Increased activity in retail distribution of seasonable merchandise due to the favorable weather, is reflected in a slight improved demand in wholesale markets. The Winter wheat harvest is now under way in most sections of the belt and is equalling expectations of a heavy production.

"Further Supreme Court decisions in railway rate cases, confirming those of a week ago, produced little or no effect on speculative markets. In iron and steel a slight increase in activity is reported, although demand continues quiet and price concessions to secure new orders are made by some producers. Dry gods jobbing houses are still operating conservatively.

"It is estimated that July interests and dividend disbursements will exceed $263,000,000 as compared with $256,000,000. Failure this week number 264 in the United States against 253 last year, and 20 in Canada."

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF COTTON

Secretary Hester's Statement Shows Interesting Figures on Staple

New Orleans, June 20.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 3,113,086, against 3,801,497 last week and 3,594,804 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 2,198,086 last year. BURGAW NEWS LETTER.

Many Social Events Scheduled for the Week—Two Weddings.

Burgaw, N. C., June 20.—The singing class of the Odd Fellows' Orphanage at Goldsboro will give a concert here next Monday night in the auditorium of the school house and as Burgaw has never failed to patronize liberally the entertainments given by the class, it may be expected that a large crowd will attend, thus supporting a most worthy cause, and the proceeds go to the orphanage.

The date conflicts with the time set for the lecture of Dr. Nesbitt, of Wilmington, and it is not known now what arrangements will be made, however, it is thought that another date can be set for the lecture. People want to hear it very much and they also wish to attend the concert.

Wednesday afternoon there was quite an exodus of young people from Burgaw, the cause being a moonlight picnic on Northeast river, at Bannerman's bridge. Automobiles conveyed the party to the river, where all embarked on a lighter and were carried down the river several miles. A table was arranged on the lighter and all manner of good things were served. It proved to be a delightful occasion.

County Commissioners Armstrong and Devane were here Thursday, enroute to Holly to look after the bridge over Shelter creek, which was put out of business by the last freshet.

If the saying a "wet June makes a bad crop year," is true, the indications so far are not encouraging, for June has sure been wet, and the prospects are fine for more rain. Crops are late and the grass is growing fine. Truly the farmer's life is not a bed of roses, however attractive it may appear to the man not engaged in it.

A small party of young people went by automobile to Atkinson Tuesday, intending to return the same day, but the storm prevented their coming back until Wednesday. On the return they found trees across the road that had to be cut out before they could be passed. The storm of Tuesday night was more severe in that section than here.

Miss Mattie Bloodworth, formerly of this place and of Wilmington, has returned after an extended trip through the West. For the past 18 months she has been in Arizona and California.

At the home of Mr. A. H. McLendon on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Lochlin McNeill gave a reception in honor of Misses Lula Peele and Mattie Paddison, who are to be married on the 24th and 26th, respectively. The young ladies who met the guests and conducted them to the punch bowl and receiving lines were Misses Estelle McLendon, Mrs. Chas. R. Yopp, Mrs. H. B. Thomas and Mrs. A. Overstreet; in the receiving line were Mrs. Lochlin McNeill, Misses Lula Peele, Mattie Paddison and Rennie Peele, Mrs. A. H. McLendon and Mrs. R. E. Peele. The punch bowl was presided over by Miss Lonnie McLendon and Miss Lizette Peele, while serving in the dainty dining room were Misses Maude Paddison and Maggie Williams, assisted by Miss Sceney McLendon. The home was beautifully decorated. About 75 guests called during the evening.

The coming week is to be an interesting one socially. The wedding of Miss Lula Peele and Dr. J. J. McCuller will take place at the Baptist church at 8:30 A. M., on the 24th; and Miss Mattie Paddison and Mr. Rodney Turner will be married at the Presbyterian church Thursday the 26th at 6:30 P. M. There will be several receptions in honor of the brides and bridal parties.

The monument placed at the grave of Benj. Motte by the Woodmen of the World is said to be one of the handsomest that order has erected to one of its members.

At the regular meeting of King Solomon's Lodge No. 38, A. F. & A. M., the following officers were elected, and will be installed on St. John's day: E. McN. Moore, worshipful master; J. Ross McNeal, senior deacon; W. I. Daniel, junior deacon; A. H. Paddison, secretary; W. D. Croom, treasurer.

A court square cleared of rubbish with weeds cut down and grass shaped up is one of the results of the work of the Civic League. The square is one of the finest in this part of the State and is worthy of the attention being bestowed upon it.

REACHES HIGHEST POINT

Episcopal Missionary Cables Message From Alaska

Seattle, Wash, June 20.—Archdeacon Hudson Stuck, the Episcopal missionary who set out from Fairbanks, Alaska, several months ago to climb Mount McKinley, reached the summit of the highest peak of the great mountain June 7th, according to private cable dispatch received here today.

The message sent by Archdeacon Stuck from Fairbanks, said:

"Expedition successful. Accomplished first complete ascent on Mt. McKinley June 7th.

"H. P. Karstens, R. G. Tatum, Walter Harper and I reached top of South (the highest of all) peak on a clear day when it was possible to read all the angles of the mountains and other prominent points and make certain that the peak we had conquered was the highest of all.

"We successfully carried a mercurial barometer to the top and made complete readings and observations.

"With field glasses we clearly saw the flag pole erected in 1910 by the Thomas-Lloyd expedition on the north peak.

"After completing observations on the summit we hoisted the American flag on the upper basin, erected a six-foot cross and said 'Te Deum' on the higest point of North America.

"The northwest ridge is the only possible approach to the summit. Due to the violent earthquakes of last July the higehr ridges were terribly shattered and this added largely to the danger, difficulty and labor of the ascent.

"We spent three weeks in continuous bad weather, hewing passage three miles long through this side. This was the chief cause of delay.

"The chief credit for our success is due to Karsten's good judgment, resourcefulness and caution. We did not have a single mishap."

DEFIED SHERIFF'S POSSE.

Desperado Claims One Victim Before Meeting Death Himself.

Forest City, Ark., June 19.—An unidentified white man defied a sheriff's posse in a barricaded cabin, 18 miles from here today, and when his pursuers came within range fired on them instantly killing Robert Bates, a young farmer. The members of the posse then poured a fussillade of shots into the house, riddling the desperado's body with bullets.

He was driven out of Cross county because of his violence, having disarmed a deputy sheriff and fled with the deputy's revolver, terrorizing residents of a section of St. Francis county.

METHODIST BISHOPS MEET.

Object to Action of Board Regarding Carnegie's Offer.

Nashville, Tenn., June 20.—At a called meting of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, attended by nine members of the College of Bishops, a veto message was drawn up, setting forth the following objections to the action of the board of trust in accepting the recent gift from Andrew Carnegie to the Vanderbilt Medical college:

"That the action of the board of trust of Vanderbilt in accepting the gift is a breach of trust vested in it under and by virtue of the resolutions of the Memphis convention, which constitute the foundation of Vanderbilt University; that said action is beyond the powers of the board and that it constitutes a diversion of a large portion of the funds and property of the university from the trusts upon which said property is held, is contrary to the terms of other gifts to the university, and is illegal, null and void."

A copy of this action will be certified and forwarded to the secretary of the board of trust of the University. Those attending the meeting were Bishops Collins Denny, E. R. Hendrix, W. R. Lambuth, E. D. Mouzon, J. C. Kilgo, J. H. McCoy, E. E. Hoss, H. C. Morrison and W. A. Candler.

In addition to a veto message the bishops addressed a general message to the church, stating their reasons for opposing the gift. They say in part:

"If this gift had been offered without embarrassing conditions, as all other gifts to the institution have been made, we should have offered no objection to its acceptance. But the conditions attached to this gift and the letter accompanying it which must be taken as expository of the conditions, are such as lead us to believe it cannot be accepted without a breach of trust and without dishonor to the church, if conditions are fulfilled in good faith to the donor.

"We are as unwilling that Mr. Carnegie be deceived as that the university should be dismembered and the church of God dishonored."

The resolutions vetoing the $1,000,000 gift by Carnegie were adopted unanimously by the college of bishops.

REQUEST ADDITIONAL FUNDS.

To Take Care of Veterans at Gettysburg Next Month.

Washington, June 19.—Secretary Garrison today asked the Congressional military committees to guarantee an additional appropriation to take care of the Union and Confederate veterans at the 50th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg next month.

Those in charge of the celebration notified the Secretary that 50,000 veterans would be there instead of 40,000 as at first anticipated. To provide tentage, subsistence, medicines, and general care for the increased number, about $25,000 more than the $150,000 appropriated will be needed. Assistant Secretary Breckenridge has gone to Gettysburg to canvass the situation.

Without these rules Sir Thomas declared it was impossible to understand the conditions prescribed for the race.

Tackle Talk

When you get ready to fish, naturally your mind turns to where you should go to get good Tackle of the Right Kind.

We've got the good Tackle, and furthermore, if you want to "line up" on what to use—why just ask Tomz. Willie Tomz—or Willie, as he is familiarly known by the sporting fraternity, is an encyclopedia on the art of fishing—what to fish with and where to go, and when! Because he knows what he is talking about.

SPRING BUTT RODS

They are Beauties — nice, straight-grained, Genuine Lancewood and Genuine Bethabara, too—with all the nice little features that should belong to a high-class rod like these.

Deep Sea Poles, 15 to 20 ounce, $2.50 to $10.00. Reels, 200 and 300 yards. "Free Spool," $8.00 to $15.00. Reels, Deep Sea, without Free Spool feature, $2.00 to $6.00.

Hooks, Snells, Squids, everything to contribute to your pleasure in this line, to the salt, as well as the fresh water fisherman.

Don't forget to call for Willie. It's a joy for him to show, whether you buy or not!
